PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

I bring significant and sustained experience providing consulting to executives in many industry sectors. I partner with leaders to implement sound initiatives that positively impact a range of business issues related to organizational effectiveness, bridging the gap between strategy and operations, succession planning, and skillful talent management. I deliver advice and counsel focused on thoughtful approaches to reaching the organization's long and short-range objectives. Areas of expertise follow:

- Strategy Formulation, Implementation and Evaluation
- Human Capital Utilization, Succession Planning, Workforce Best Practices
- Executive & Leadership Development
- Organizational Effectiveness, Organizational Development, Organizational Change & Organizational Culture
- I design an array of customized interactive learning experiences curated to meet each client's individual needs.
- I am instrumental in developing and implementing organizational change initiatives. I devise programmatic interventions to transform corporate culture while enhancing performance and productivity. I help clients develop and refine the leadership competencies required to meet current and anticipated business demands.
- I develop quantitative and qualitative assessments to measure organizational climate, skillfully using a variety of approaches including focus groups, surveys, and mixed-method measurement strategies. I provide comprehensive analysis of assessment results.
- I develop leadership and management development interventions aimed at cultivating the competencies required to meet the organization's strategic objectives.
- I assist leaders in analyzing innovations and ensuring that the range of viable options are well-aligned with organizational strategy.
- I create comprehensive approaches to succession planning and pipeline development so that key positions have available talent to advance the organization's strategic intentions.
- I partner with executives to design innovative, successful approaches for addressing human capital utilization issues that impact performance, productivity, and profit — partnerships that contribute to the long-term success of client organizations.
- I utilize the SmikleSpeaks podcast, with over 33,000 listeners globally, and the SmikleSpeaks YouTube channel to provide virtual leadership learning.
- I facilitate strategic planning, retreats, seminars, workshops, and educational experiences for leaders. I conduct needs analyses to plot long-term courses for organizational development, providing systematic approaches to effectively position the organization for results aligned with strategic objectives.
